

SPOONER HAS AN EYE ON BETTER THINGS.

PREFERS BEING SENATOR TO SUCCEEDING PECK.

H. A. Taylor Likely to Have His Influence—Other Candidates Will Continue to Regard Him With a Watchful Eye. Presidential Aspirations Suspected Near the Capitol.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 17.—John C. Spooner has said he does not want to be governor this year and it is generally conceded that he is sincere. Horace A. Taylor, of the Madison Journal, is an aspirant for the republican nomination for governor, and with Spooner's aid, if he gets it, may make it before the convention. Such a move would mean the return of Spooner to the United States senate, provided the republicans regain control of the state and of the legislature, which seems to be a foregone conclusion. Of course the ex-senator will cut the political cloth, so far as he is able, to make a mantle for his own political ambition. There are those who declare that the latter has vaulted until nothing short of a four years' lease of the White house at the national capitol will satisfy him. If this be so and he sees a clearer path from the governor's mansion to the president's house than the one from the senate, Spooner may withdraw his declination.

PECKHAM BEFORE THE SENATE.

The Judicial Nomination Comes Up For Action This Afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Mr. Peckham's nomination for the Supreme court went over for another day. Senator Hill announced his readiness for a vote after a speech on either side had been made, but Senator Vilas wanted further time to present arguments in behalf of Mr. Peckham. The executive session lasted three hours. Chairman Pugh of the Judiciary committee took more than an hour to show the grounds on which the nomination should be rejected.

There was some talking for Peckham, in which Vilas, Harris and one or two other senators took part, but the main speech was made by Lindsay of Kentucky. He produced evidence to show that Peckham is an eminent lawyer who commands the respect of the bar of New York and is the peer now of any one on the bench.

Senators on the republican side took no part in the discussion. Sherman is confined to his house by illness. He sent word that he was not to be paired in favor of Peckham. Hoar came out against the New Yorker, thus making a majority of the judiciary committee adverse. His colleague, Lodge and Morrill of Vermont also made a similar announcement and two or three other republicans declared their hostility.

The western democrats, with hardly an exception, are with the administration in seeking to confirm Peckham, while nearly all the republicans from that section are against him. Voorhees and Turpie of Indiana, Vilas and Mitchell of Wisconsin, and Palmer of Illinois are with the administration. Cullom, Allison and Wilson of Iowa, Davis and Washburn of Minnesota, Manderson of Nebraska, Dubois and Shoup of Idaho, Power of Montana, Teller and Wolcott of Colorado, Hansbrough of North Dakota and Pettigrew of South Dakota are counted with the opposition. McMillan of Michigan is paired in favor of confirmation. Stockbridge is said to lean the same way, though he has not committed himself.

Extraordinary interest attaches to the outcome. There has been no contest over a Supreme court nomination since the time of Stanley Matthews in which so great exertions were put forth on both sides. The guess of a margin of not less than five against Peckham's confirmation still holds, with perhaps two or three more.

SEIGNIORAGE IN THE HOUSE.

New York Bridge Bill and the President's Veto Reported Back.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—During the call of committees for reports in the house yesterday Mr. Wise of Virginia, from the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, reported back the New York and New Jersey bridge bill and the accompanying veto of the President, with the recommendation that the bill do not pass over the veto.

Mr. Bland then moved to go into committee of the whole for the further consideration of the seigniorage bill. Pending that motion he again made a fruitless effort to fix the limit of debate.

The bill was taken up in the committee of the whole and Mr. Bland corrected certain statements made by Mr. Walker (rep., Mass.) in his remarks wednesday, he having read extracts from the Record in which Mr. Bland claims to have been misquoted.

Mr. Rawlins (dem., Utah) continued his speech, which was interrupted by adjournment Wednesday. He said the south and west could live without the east, whereas the east, with its great manufacturing enterprises and teeming millions, was dependent upon the west and south. The miners of the west could produce money for the people of that section while those of the east would be dependent upon them.

Mr. Latimer (dem., S. C.) supported the bill.

Mr. Hendrix (dem., N. Y.) said that in the pending bill the new features were not good and its good features not new. The impression made upon the country by the pending bill is an extremely bad one. He said that the wonderful increase of transportation has decreased the price of wheat, and the decline of value in agricultural products was not influenced by the price of either gold or silver.

Mr. Simpson (pop., Kan.) referred to the remarks made by Mr. Walker (rep., Mass.) Wednesday, in which he said that the entire financial problem should be left for the banks to solve. He disagreed with Mr. Walker and believed in the issuance of fiat money. Mr. Simpson ascribed the present hard times to legislation made necessary by the war. He said that there should be at least enough money to supply a per capita circulation of $30.

Mr. Bingham (rep., Pa.) spoke against the bill, which, he said, was but another step in the movement to establish a silver currency.

Mr. Boatner (dem., La.) favored the bill. Mr. Enloe (dem., Tenn.) also favored the bill, and said that its opponents were not satisfied with the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, but desired to stop the issue of money in any form.

Mr. Hall (dem., Minn.) spoke against the bill. The Bland-Allison act and the Sherman act, he said, were steps toward the establishment of a silver basis. These acts had gradually led to business depression and panics, and the country had only been saved from financial disaster by their repeal.

Mr. Goodnight (dem., Ky.) favored the coinage of both the seigniorage and bullion.

At 5:05 the committee rose and the house adjourned.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—When the senate met yesterday Senator Gore presented the credentials of Senator-Elect McLaurin of Mississippi and the oath of office was administered to the new senator.

The house bill to compel the Rock Island railroad company to stop its trains at Enid and Round Pound, Oklahoma, came up at 4:30 as the unfinished business, and Senator Platt of Connecticut took the floor in opposition to the measure.

After some desultory discussion Mr. Blackburn moved to lay the bill on the table. The motion was defeated, yeas 25; nays, 31.

An amendment reported by the committee requiring an election in the counties of L and O in Oklahoma to determine the location of the county seats in those counties, came up for action, and Mr. Pepper (Pop., Kan.) offered an amendment to it which would allow the women as well as the men to vote on the question.

Mr. Pepper's amendment was rejected—yeas 15, nays 42. The committee amendment was then agreed to—yeas 34, nays 21.

Several amendments were proposed by Mr. Blackburn and were rejected. The bill was then passed. The vote was—yeas 27, nays 27, and the Vice-President voted yeas.

The senate then on motion of Mr. Pugh (dem., Ala.), chairman of the Judiciary committee, proceeded to the consideration of executive business, and at 5:55 adjourned.

Senator Sherman Ill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Senator Sherman was absent from the senate chamber yesterday, and it was said that he was suffering from a slight cold. Today he is confined to his home and is suffering from an attack of laryngitis, which, although severe, is not dangerous.

WOMEN WHO WANT TO VOTE.

Convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The twenty-sixth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association began here yesterday with a large attendance of delegates representing all parts of the country. The session was devoted to the presentation of reports and the annual address of the president, Miss Susan B. Anthony, who stated among other things that a petition signed by a million names would be presented to the New York constitutional convention in May next for the elimination of the word "male" from the suffrage laws of the state, and congratulates the association upon the addition of the Colorado star to that of Wyoming in the flag of the organization.

This afternoon's session will be devoted to a special session in memory of Mrs. Lucy Stone, Elizabeth Oakes Smith, Leland Stanford, Charles O'Neill and George W. Childs. The convention will continue in session until next Wednesday.

Victor F. Lawson President.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—At the meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Press held yesterday, Victor F. Lawson of the Chicago Record and Daily News was elected president.

FAST TRAIN LOOTED AND SEVERAL SHOT.

THREE BANDITS ROB A SOUTHERN PACIFIC FLYER.

They Kill the Fireman and an Unknown Man, Wound the Engineer Seriously and Blow Open the Express Car With Dynamite, Ditching the Train.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—Two men were killed and one badly wounded by three desperadoes who held up the Southern Pacific "Overland" express this morning. The killed are:

ARTHUR MASTERS, fireman.

Unknown tramp.

The injured:

DAVID THOMAS, engineer.

The express car was blown open with dynamite and looted, several passengers injured and the wrecked train was ditched.

M'KANE FOUND GUILTY.

Jury at Brooklyn Clinch the First Indictment Against the "Boss."

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—John Y. McKane was found guilty by a jury in the court of oyer and terminer in Brooklyn yesterday on an indictment charging him with willfully and fraudulently holding back the registration lists of Gravesend at the election in November. Under the law McKane can be sent to prison and compelled to pay a fine. There yet remain a number of indictments upon which he can be tried, all of them growing out of his autocratic conduct during the election of last fall.

FAVOR A LOCAL OPTION LAW.

Representatives of Iowa Cities Organize for Work at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 16.—The representatives of the cities favoring local option who have been here to address the committees of legislature on suppression of intemperance perfected their organization at a late hour last night by appointing a "steering committee." Provision was made for additional members from Sioux City, Marshalltown, Fort Dodge, Oskaloosa, Fort Madison, Muscatine, McGregor and Des Moines. The committee is to have charge of the interests of the cities in the matter of recommending measures to the legislature for the modification of the prohibitory law. While all the members of the committee are supposed to be in favor of local option some of them will be willing to accept a malt law with a high license feature and a bar to prosecution if nothing better can be had.

Shot for an American Launch.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, via Galveston, Texas, Feb. 16.—A sailor belonging to the crew of the United States cruiser Newark, ill with yellow fever, was sent ashore just before that warship sailed for Montevideo to be conveyed to a hospital. The insurgent ship Marte deliberately fired on the launch which was taking the sick man across the bay. Admiral Benham promptly sent to ask the captain of the Marte what he meant and the captain immediately apologized, saying the firing upon the launch was a mistake.

Mississippi Changes Its Bed.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 16.—The Mississippi river has cut its way into Horn lake, sixteen miles below Memphis, and there is now a four-mile current in what was formerly the bed of the river, but which has for half a century been a swamp. The old channel of the river joins the present channel at Norfolk landing, twenty miles below where the cut-off occurred.

Statesman Wilson Starts to Mexico.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 16.—Congressman William L. Wilson of West Virginia, Mrs. Wilson, Bessie Wilson, Congressman John C. Tarsney and Mrs. Tarsney of Kansas City, left at 1:05 o'clock yesterday on the Santa Fe railway for El Paso. They occupied the private Pullman car "Pickwick," which was placed at their disposal by the Santa Fe railroad.

TAKE RISK OF FIRES RATHER THAN PAY.

JANESVILLE PROPERTY OWNERS CANCEL INSURANCE.

Several Inspectors Visit the City and See the Workings of the Fire Department—Howe Brothers Protest Against Paying 1 1/2 Per Cent. On Their New Factory.

Insurance rates are just now being thoroughly discussed by Janesville property owners, the ratings on factory property having recently been advanced twenty per cent. and the advance is universally objected to. Property owners who have paid the insurance companies $62,000 and over in one year, insist that too much money is demanded, especially when the companies are only required to pay back $6,000 in fire losses.

Rates are advanced by the underwriters on account of heavy losses sustained in other places, they insisting that they must have more money in order to meet their extraordinary losses. The advance has not worked as anticipated. Property owners have much faith in the efficiency of the Janesville fire department, and its ability to keep down fire losses and many policies are allowed to lapse or are being cancelled.

Many Inspectors In The City.

Within a few days a number of insurance inspectors and rate adjusters have been in the city making surveys. Each gentleman has been given opportunity to inspect the fire department and fire alarm service, and have been informed as to the service of the department, not only for the year 1893, but for five years past, and each have admitted that favors should be shown this city in the line of ratings. Yesterday's fire on South Second street was only a fair illustration of the prompt work of the fire department.

"Do you confine the fire to the building in which it originated?" inquired Inspector H. H. Hershey of Racine who was inspecting the department and fire alarm machinery.

"Yes, sir," replied Assistant Chief Osgood to whom the query was addressed, "and in nearly every case we confine it to the room in which it originates."

Howes Demand a Lower Rate.

Inspector Hershey visited the city more especially to inspect the factory of the Howe Brothers and fix the rates thereon. The factory is now paying 1 1/2 per cent. with notice that this rate may be advanced. The Howes have spent much money in guarding against the possibility of fire in their new building and have also put in numerous fixtures for the extinguishment of fires, as well as an automatic fire alarm connected with the fire stations. With all these safeguards the Howes are vigorously demanding lower ratings on their property, and insist that if their demands are not conceded they will carry their own insurance, trusting to their luck and the promptness of the fire department.

Wheelock's Ten Day Sale.

On another page of this issue will be found an announcement of Wheelock's Crockery store. It is a special ten day sale of lamps, and the prices quoted are ample proof that you cannot fail to attend. In connection with this, Messrs. Wheelock have arranged a bargain table on which can be found both useful and ornamental articles at one-fourth what they cost at wholesale. For instance, you can find on that counter, handsome bottles with cut glass stoppers that cost $1.75 each for 50 cents; luster band coffee cups and saucers 10 cents a pair; decorated saucers 2 cents each; French china bowls and covers with handles, worth $1.25, cost 75 cents each, for 50 cents each; decorated china spoon holders 5 cents each.

Pea Jackets $4.50

We have some elegant pea jackets, blue chinchilla, all wool, fast colors, double breasted coats and vests, generally sell for $10. No merchant can buy them for less than $6 each wholesale, sizes to suit anybody. We will give them to you, if you can buy them for what we offer. We will put the lot in this sale for $4.50 each. Just the thing for teamsters, conductors and motormen. Come early as they will not last long at $4.50. Rosenfeld the originator, on the bridge.

Catarh In The Head.

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. Catarrh of the head leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

It will astonish you how quick Johnson's Magnetic Oil will kill all pain. Sold at Smith's pharmacy; 25 c. and 50 cents.

"THEY BLOOM IN THE SPRING."

USHER'S NON-PARTISAN WAGER.

He Will Win Money but Loses Esteem of the Party Bosses.

The tribulations of the Wall crowd have been increased by the wild pranks of Ellis B. Usher, the young politician or La Crosse who came down here the other day and publicly bet that the republicans would carry Milwaukee next spring, and who is now moving heaven and earth to get his money back so that he can say he has no such bet up, says the Sentinel. The genial Mr. Usher bet James McCarthy, of the Third ward, $50 to $25 that the republicans would carry Milwaukee, and Postmaster Bachelor, of La Crosse, bet John McCoy $75 to $35 on the same thing. Later Mr. Usher came down to Milwaukee and was closeted for about an hour with George Mahoney, who was selected to hold the money bet. He tried to induce Mr. Mahoney to give him his money back so that he could announce that he had no money up. But Mr. Mahoney had no authority to do any such thing and told him that the men who made the bets must mutually agree to such an agreement. Mr. Usher wants his money back because his life has been made miserable ever since he made the wager. Democrats from all parts of the state have "jumped on him with both feet," and it is said that he even had telegrams from Washington protesting against his betting against the party which has nurtured and cared for him even if it was true that the democrats didn't stand any show. He has been given to understand that the making of the bet was about as foolish a thing as could possibly have been done and entirely unexpected in a man with as much political wisdom as he is supposed by the members of his party to have.

BIG STAMPS ARE IN GREAT DEMAND.

LOCAL COLLECTORS ARE GATHERING THEM UP.

Boys Accumulating Stocks of the High Colored Plasters With a View to Selling Them At a Premium in the Near Future—Distinctive Size Make Them Attractive.

The greatly disliked and often licked Columbian stamp is being collected by hundreds of boys and girls about the city, the children thinking that at some future date they will become of more value in their cancelled state than when they were first issued. As soon as the present supply in the postoffice is exhausted the Columbian stamps will be out of the market, and collectors and dealers are consequently laying in large supplies of them with the knowledge that they will become more valuable each year. At present the stamp collection in this city has reached a point where it may be called a craze, and nearly every boy has a stamp book and is working hard to secure a stock of cancelled stamps. One lad says he has 5000 stamps that he expects to sell to an eastern firm within a week, the harvest of about two months. He has ransacked the waste baskets of lawyers' offices and stores and has often secured fifty a day.

OBJECTS TO THE SORE-ARM FAD

Parent Argues That Children Need Not Be Vaccinated.

EDITOR GAZETTE: What do you think of the "medical pool" that calls for the vaccination of all school children? The secretary of the state board of health blandly informs us that they have the small pox in neighboring states, and consequently no matter how careful we may be we must trot our school children up to a physician and have their little anatomies plugged full of vaccine, which is nearly as dangerous as the disease it is intended to modify. If Illinois babies happen to have eczema won't they please treat it as a family secret? If not, we shall probably be obliged to furnish certificates with vouchers that we have administered the proper amount of wintergreen before our little ones can attend the schools for which we pay.

CARRIED BY BULLETS.

Microbes From Infected Flannel Through Which the Projectile Was Fired.

Some interesting experiments were lately made by Dr. Mesmer, says the London News, by way of solving the question whether or not rifle bullets are liable to carry infection with them in their course of entry into the body. He made his trial with bullets which had been infected with germs of a particular kind, and the infected bullets were shot into tin boxes from a distance varying from 225 to 250 meters—a meter being nearly three feet three and three-fourths inches. Inside the boxes was placed gelatine peptone in a sterilized or germless condition, so that whatever germ developments were found in the peptone (which is a great growing medium for microbes) would be presumed to come from the bullets. The tracks of the bullets through the gelatine were duly scrutinized, with the result that in each case germ growth took place corresponding to the particular microbes with which the bullets had been respectively infected. In another series of investigations the bullets were made to pass through infected flannel before penetrating the gelatine, the bullets being of ordinary kind. Here, again, microbe growths appeared in the gelatine, showing that the flannel had yielded up its microbes to the bullets as they traversed it. If noninfected and ordinary bullets were used, the gelatine developed only the ordinary germ life, such as the air contains. The bullet is, therefore, a germ carrier of very decided kind, and it is also clear that if clothing is penetrated by a bullet prior to its entrance into the tissues, the missile will be liable to carry into the wound it makes the bacteria resident on the clothes.

A SCULPTOR'S NIGHT WORK.

An Anecdote Showing the Zeal That Cost Alexander Munroe His Life.

An anecdote about Alexander Munroe, the sculptor, is thus recorded by Mrs. Josephine Butler in the memoirs of her husband: "Brought up among Scotch moors, and of humble but gifted parentage, he had much of the sweet character of a child combined with true artistic genius, great quickness of intellect, and a rare enthusiasm for all that was good and noble. The task was committed to him of designing a number of statues, representing various scientific men of past times. 'Munroe worked in our house, not infrequently on the clay models of portrait busts he was engaged with. He showed even then a tendency to the consumption which carried him off so early in life. He was warned by his doctor against his habit of working at night. He did not sufficiently regard the warning, and his delicate look made our hearts ache. We removed his lamp and all means of obtaining a light at night, in order to oblige him to retire to rest. One morning, however, after this severe measure had been enforced, he showed us at breakfast a lovely diminutive piece of sculpture, representing a little girl carrying a bundle of sticks, her dress blown by the wind, and a little dog at her feet; the whole carved out of a piece of slate pencil. But how did he obtain a light? We asked. He answered meekly, but with a mischievous smile: 'I went out and bought a farthing dip, and when I found I couldn't sleep I lit it and made this thing. Will you have it?'

DR. PALMER IN THE "DEVIL'S HOLE."

If the Journey Has Been Reasonably Quick He Is Near Queenstown.

Janesville people will be interested in the movements and whereabouts of Dr. Henry Palmer. In case no accident has overtaken the steamship Umbria, on which the doctor took passage for Liverpool, he was, at daylight this morning in what sea-faring men call "The Devil's Hole," which is about two hundred miles off the southwest coast of Ireland, and in the sea highway of all the ocean steamers plying between Europe and America. "The Devil's Hole" is so called by sailors as it is a meeting point of many ocean currents, that of the gulf of Mexico and the Bay of Biscay. The eddies formed by the meeting of these immense currents make it a very dangerous point in rough weather, and many vessels have been foundered here. The doctor will reach Queenstown this evening and if everything is favorable will reach Liverpool tomorrow morning.

HOGAN'S CONSCIENCE HURT HIM.

John B. Weisend's Display Was Too Much For the Officer.

People on West Milwaukee street saw Officer Hogan stop short this morning when he was passing Weisend's store, and look quickly about him.

"Hogan must smell a crook," said Frank L. Stevens.

An uncontrollable impulse compelled the "big man" to look in the show window.

People crowded up to see what the matter was, but Hogan shook his head sadly. He couldn't get by that sample police uniform without suffering pangs of conscience.

THEY DON'T CONSIST.

Religion and Mule Driving Are Very Far Asunder.

The circuit rider in the West Virginia mountains one day overtook a mountaineer driving a pair of mules along the road and engaged him in conversation, as was his wont.

"You will excuse me," said the good man, "but I am the preacher on this circuit, and I want to know the people who live here. I suppose this is your neighborhood?"

"Yes, sir, I live down here on Greasy, just beyant the forks," was the prompt response.

"I don't think I saw you at church last Sunday, did I?"

"No, sir; but I usually aim to get thar. Had a spell uv sickness last week an' was laid up."

"I'm glad to hear you are a church-goer, and I hope you are a member."

"Well, mister," and the native's face showed some regret, "I haint got so far along as that yet. 'Bout the best I kin do is to go to meetin' and take chances on the balance."

"But why don't you become a member?"

"Caze my business is agin it."

"What do you do?"

"I'm a teamster."

"Why, that is no reason why you shouldn't join the church."

"But I drive mules, mister, an' after ten years at it, I'm here to say that mule-drivin' an' the Christian religion won't gee fer shucks, an' thar ain't no use tryin' to make 'em. I'm just ez glad to see you, though, mister, an'—whoa, thar, whoa," he broke in on himself as his team went into a chuck-hole, and before he got on to hard ground again the preacher was convinced that the native was more than half right.

Arizona's Wild Camels.

The wild camels in Arizona are increasing in number. It is regretted that they are not captured and put to service. Ever since they were purchased by the government and turned loose they have thrived until there are now a good many of them, probably 500 or 400. No attempt has ever been made to tame them, but if this was done they would be of much greater value than the ponies or burros, except as mountain climbers. They could carry greater loads and could endure the arid plains better than any of the beasts of burden now in use. A few of them have been caught and sold to menageries and zoological gardens, but not enough to make any appreciable difference in the size of the drove. They are seldom seen, keeping away from haunts of mankind, preferring to remain in the most barren part of the alkali lands. They are now difficult to capture, but it could be done, and they would prove of great value on the Western plains.

Buy Dullman's German 15 cent liver pills, 40 in each package, at Palmer & Stevens.

From Millitsch, in Silesia, an extraordinary case of trance is reported. Some delay occurred in the burial of a lady, owing to the grave not being ready. She was the wife of a major in the army. On the fourth day after her supposed death, the maid was placing fresh flowers round the coffin, when she was startled at seeing the body move. Finally the supposed corpse assumed an erect position. She had evidently been in a state of coma during these four days.

A Contractor's Advice.

Dullman's German Medicine Co.—Gentlemen I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullman's German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six months' other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured.

THE STATE TICKET.

Material for the state ticket is being brought forward. For the head of the ticket there are suggested Ex-Senator Spooner, Horace Rublee, H. A. Taylor, A. J. Turner and Mayor Koch, of Milwaukee. As Ex-Senator Spooner has already declined the nomination and Mr. Rublee is known to be opposed to the use of his name in this connection and Mr. Turner desires the nomination for secretary of state, the list dwindles down to the names of Mr. Koch and Mr. Taylor. There doubt that if the republicans of Milwaukee should present the name of Mr. Koch as their candidate for governor, a state convention would give the matter fair and candid consideration. Mr. Taylor was a leading candidate for the nomination in 1888 and he has many friends who would like to see him again in the field, but it is doubtful if he will be a candidate. There is an opening for a man whose qualifications are business even more than political and such a man Janesville offers. Hon. A. P. Lovejoy has been proposed and his name meets with general favor. Mr. Lovejoy has many friends in all sections of the state who will see that his claims receive due consideration.

WHY IS MONEY NEEDED?

Boss Wall's party must be in hard lines or the boss would never have gone on a fat-frying expedition at this time of year. He finds it very difficult to explain where the money is to go. There is no campaign in progress calling for the distribution of documents which is what contributions are generally asked for. Neither is there any great call for "organization." The only sure thing is that the machine is in sore straits over something or other. Either it is in desperation as to the spring elections in Milwaukee and is seeking to make the officials from the state at large come to its rescue, which they will not do, or it is something very much like it.

There is even the suspicion that democratic money is needed for the coffers of the Milwaukee organ in view of the depressed financial situation of some months past. Last year "official organs" were supported from the state treasury, but the roster exposure has ended this, and it may be that democratic office holders are expected to come to the front.

POOR YEAR FOR MAKING CONVERTS

This isn't much of a winter for making democrats.

You don't hear young men talking about "the party of progress," and you don't hear workingmen soliloquize about "the laboring man's friend."

Both of these high-sounded phrases have been exploded, but at what a cost!

The country never could have prospered while the false philosophy was in the air, unsettling trade and disturbing manufacturers; and yet it seems as if the disclosure might have been made without such fearful loss. It might, had Cleveland and his allies not struggled so desperately as they saw their ship going down to defeat. They saw their only hope in the chance that like might cure like, and gave the impoverished nation second and third doses of the financial policy that had pledged such havoc from the beginning.

No wonder this is a bad year for democratic orators. Other years just as bad will follow for a long while to come.

Here is a bit of knowledge for those who are so positive that we are not up to the old world in our educational methods. The German School Commissioner to the World's Fair, says in his official report to his government: "In their school system the Americans are in every way superior to the Germans."

It required two days for Governor Peck to tell what he knew about the roster case, and according to his testimony, Colonel Clark was hardly more than a pollywog in the deal. Peck's testimony revealed a well developed bull-frog wearing a military uniform with all the ornaments of a full fledged brigadier-general.

It can hardly be considered a recommendation of Mississippi's new senator Mr. McLaurin, to say that he is a successful criminal lawyer. Dan Voorhees and Joe Blackburn are also successful criminal lawyers, but nobody ever accused either of being a statesman.

The Southern Interstate Immigration Bureau has employed a party of medical experts to examine and report upon the healthfulness of the south. It isn't the sanitary condition of the south that keeps out immigrants.

The democrats of the senate finance committee are working on the theory that the people have no rights that democrats are bound to respect. The people will have their say next November.

"Theory is the wisdom of the wise man; practice is the wisdom of God."—Ex-Speaker Reed. The country is now getting a taste of theory from the democratic point of view.

The tramp question is worrying the local authorities at Washington. They should turn it over to the democratic president and congress, who have made more tramps than anything else.

It doesn't take very close watching to see that the democratic party is incapable of governing a country in which intelligent statesmanship is essential to success.

The democrats have made monthly deficits a part of the established policy of the government, and the relief afforded by the new bonds will be but temporary.

It seems that there are a number of democratic senators who have no doubt of either the constitutionality or desirability of protection, when it is for their own interests.

The Indians of the five civilized tribes in Indian Territory do not want statehood, but certain schemers who think they see big money in it do.

The Farmers' Alliance disapproves of Secretary Morton and for once its disapproval meets with general approval.

There are 500 vacancies in the postal service which will be filled just as fast as the senate manifests a disposition to side with Cleveland against Hill.

The enterprising manufacturer of campaign goods will be certain to lay in an immense supply of imitation cuckoos.

Mr. Cleveland must find it difficult to sleep while that silver gong is being thumped so hard in congress.

The passage of the Wilson bill means simply that the democrats considered the wages of American workingmen exorbitant.

Reduce Wages of Illinois Miners.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Feb. 16.—The Big Muddy Coal and Iron company gave notice of a 10 per cent reduction in the wage schedules, to take effect Feb. 19. Over 700 men are affected. Other miners will follow suit. All mines here have been working on short orders for three months.

To Modify Jenkins' Order.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 16.—The employees of the Northern Pacific road, by their attorney, J. V. Quarles, filed in the United States Circuit court a motion for a modification of Judge Jenkins' famous order forbidding a strike. It will be argued Feb. 26.

Passenger Rate War Imminent.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 16.—A report generally believed in railroad circles states that the Union Pacific is permitting brokers to manipulate round trip tickets to the Pacific coast. A rate war of formidable proportions is undoubtedly brewing.

Union Pacific Employees Jubilant.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 16.—The employees of the Union Pacific are jubilant over what they term the victory gained in St. Louis by Judge Caldwell ordering General Solicitor Thurston to revoke the new wage schedule order. They have been confident all along that Judge Caldwell would not sustain the order of Judge Dundy. The Caldwell order is declared to be the greatest victory in recent years for organized labor and has demonstrated that a legal department will be a necessary adjunct of all labor organizations in the future.

Blood Poisoning

"Twelve years ago my wife was picking raspberries when she scratched herself on a briar, the wound from which soon developed into a running sore, between her knee and ankle. We tried medical skill on every side, with no effect. About a year ago she read of Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it herself, and while taking the first bottle she felt better and continued with it until today she is entirely cured and better than ever. The sore was healed up in seven weeks. Her limb is perfectly sound." J. N. AUGENBAUGH, Elters, York Co., Pa.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there, got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

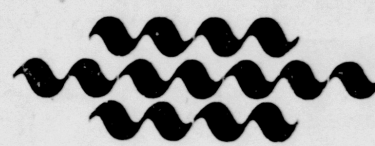

"To be or not to be," said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he too, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and foot-sore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, Homesteads, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "toe the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize: "The wonder grows," why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed. Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

Blindness.

If there is any affliction more grievous than another it is loss or impairment of sight. The man or woman who is compelled to go through life in darkness is always an object of pity.

That many diseases of the Eye that lead to total loss of sight are curable, if taken in time, and scientifically treated is readily admitted. Janesville is fortunate in having added to her staff of physicians an whose skill is recognized and whose practice has already developed to a degree that seems wonderful. Dr. H. A. McChesney possesses skill in treating diseases of the Eye that is indeed remarkable and many people are enthusiastic in his praise.

Eye Specialist,

Glasses.

The aid to failing Eye sight are always a blessing, when properly fitted but any one who is compelled to wear them will admit that the Eye should be skillfully examined by a scientific man who understands not only the mechanical methods but also the delicate construction of this most delicate organ.

Dr. McChesney claims that in a large majority of cases the eye needs treating more than it needs artificial aid, and that when properly treated, that the natural vision can be restored without the aid of glasses. After a thorough and scientific examination and treatment, the doctor furnishes glasses when needed, without additional charge.

Deafness

next to the loss or impairment of sight, the loss of hearing is always considered the most grievous. Dr. McChesney's skill in treating deaf people is second to that of no specialist in the country. One of his patients, Mrs. F. L. Smith, is a lady who lives near the Lutheran church in the Fourth ward. Two months ago when she commenced treatment with Dr. McChesney, she was unable to hear the chime bells, and she had been so deaf for 15 years, that she could hardly hear a sound. Today you can converse with her comfortably and the chances are that at the end of her treatment she will be fully restored. The doctor has many other cases that are steadily improving.

Catarrh

That disease that is so common in this climate, and that leads to such a variety of diseases such as consumption, bronchitis, asthma and a long line of minor complaints, yields readily to Dr. McChesney's skillful treatment. His blood remedies for catarrh in connection with his local treatment invariably brings relief and the worst cases are permanently cured. This of course requires time, and especially where the disease is deep seated and chronic, as is often the case, but if the patient will take the time and carefully follow the treatments a cure is almost absolute.

If you are suffering from any of the diseases which Dr. McChesney makes a Specialty you should lose no time in consulting him

At his office in the Wilcox Block.

CLARK NOW ANXIOUS TO TELL HIS STORY.

OTHER DEFENDANTS AGHAST AT THE RESULT.

They Had Declared There Was Nothing to Conceal and His Refusal to Testify Puts Him in a Strange Light—Peck's Representative Gives His Views.

Col. C. L. Clark's refusal to testify in the roster case spread consternation among the other defendants. They had posed as ready and even anxious to tell all they knew about the case. The idea of concealment was resented as an imputation of their guilt. And now, just as they get this declaration nicely before the public Colonel Clark comes along and refuses to say a word. More importance is lent to this by the fact that Colonel Clark has been accused by the other defendants of being the lead and front of the whole roster job. He was supposed to know more about it than any one else, Governor Peck explaining that Doe looked after half the deal and Clark the other half. There has been a disposition from the first to saddle much of the blame on the ex-private secretary and it may be that he is simply taking measures of self-defense. His attorney, John Winans, intimated two weeks ago that Clark had to be careful because all the other defendants would be glad to crawl out from under the load of hay and leave him under it. He didn't intend to permit this to be done, he said. Yesterday's developments looked like part of a plan adopted in Clark's personal interest. Attorney E. M. Hyer declared to a Gazette reporter that it was merely to gain time so that Attorney Winans could be present at the examination.

Willing to Proceed at Once.

It didn't take but an hour for Colonel C. L. Clark's attorneys to realize that they had made a mistake. At 6 o'clock they were on the back track.

There must have been a consultation, or some application of influence to induce a change of heart soon after court adjourned. About 6 o'clock Attorney Hyer intimated to the attorneys for the plaintiffs that if they would be in Janesville to-day Clark would appear and testify. The offer was not accepted. Most of the attorneys had gone home; they had all been notified that Colonel Clark was called to testify in Milwaukee next Wednesday. There was not time to prepare for an appearance before Commissioner Nichols to-day, and the proposition for an examination by stipulation was refused.

"Yesterday's pulling and hauling we were told, was simply to give time for Attorney Winans to recover and appear in court," said one attorney. "It is surprising how soon Mr. Winans gets on his feet again, if this proposition is a mark of his recovery."

The findings of Court Commissioner Nichols holding Colonel Clark guilty of contempt of court for refusing to testify in the roster case, will go to Madison this afternoon. No action by the Dane county circuit court is likely to be taken until the 26th inst., when the case proper comes up for trial.

Defense Were Ill at Ease.

The defendants who were in Commissioner Nichols court were much disconcerted at the proceedings.

Attorney W. H. Gibson, of Milwaukee, who presented Gov. Peck said to a reporter that the action of Clark in refusing to testify was wholly unexpected to him. While he supposed the ex-private secretary acted upon advice of his counsel, Mr. Gibson was wholly at sea as to the purpose of the policy. He expressed the opinion that as a rule a defendant gained nothing by refusing to answer questions, and generally prejudiced his case. So far as Governor Peck was concerned, he declared that there was believed to be a valid square defense to be made and he had no interest and had taken no part in the proceedings at Janesville.

The expressed supposition of others interested in the case is that the defense desired to put off Clark's testimony so that it cannot be utilized by the plaintiffs in preparing for trial.

Some in Madison thought that Colonel Clark had been persuaded to take the blame of the whole transaction, and that his refusal to give evidence was the initiatory step in making him a scapegoat.

GAZETTE TO ISSUE A DOUBLE WEEKLY.

CIRCULATION OF 8,000 ASSURED BY JUNE 1.

One Eight Page Paper to Be Sent Out Every Tuesday and Another Every Friday—It Will Cost No More Than the Single Issue.

Rock county farmers are progressive. For a long time a weekly paper satisfied their wants. This day has passed and a demand is now made for the news of the world in more frequent installments. The Gazette has prepared to meet this demand. Whenever possible the daily is sent out into surrounding towns and villages. To cover the many cases where this cannot be done the Weekly Gazette will be issued in two parts after March 1. It will be the Janesville Weekly Gazette as of yore, but in effect it will be a semi-weekly. Part one will be issued Tuesday morning. Part 2 Friday morning. Each will be an eight page part, the same size as the daily and The Gazette will then have the largest as it now has the best weekly in Wisconsin barring none.

THE price? An eight page semi-weekly ought to be worth more than a weekly, but it will be furnished for the same money.

One dollar and a half will be the price, just as heretofore. For $1.75 The Gazette and the Chicago Weekly Inter Ocean will be furnished.

This means just one thing. The Weekly Gazette's circulation long ago passed the 3,000 point. June 1 we expect to have on our books the names of 4,000 paid subscribers. To advertisers who use both parts that means a weekly circulation of 8,000 among the solid farmers of Rock county.

Advertisers will appreciate the change, readers will appreciate the change, and this ought to be ground enough for a newspaper change of any sort.

MRS. ELECTA BATES CALLED HOME

Demise Came This Morning After a Long Lease of Life.

Like a lamp that is extinguished after it has burned nearly a century; as the arctic sun sets after it has shone for half a year; as the sturdy oak that has stood for centuries, casts off its withered foliage and uplifts its shriveled arms to the sky in death, so many a one yields up a life that has become a burden to them, because of their many well spent years.

This morning at a few minutes before two o'clock, Mrs. Electa Bates looked her last upon earthly scenes and folding her aged and withered hands upon her breast, she breathed her last and her soul took its flight from this world. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Brand, 163 Linn street. Mrs. Bates had been in failing health for some time and for the past four weeks she had been confined to her bed with stomach trouble, which with the infirmities incident to old age, caused her death.

Mrs. Bates was born in Middlefield, Otsego county, New York, October 9, 1811, and was one of ten children, all of whom preceded her to the other world. At the age of twenty she was united in marriage to Ezra M. Adams, of Westford, Otsego county. Four years later Mr. and Mrs. Adams and two children came west to seek their fortune. They came overland, requiring six weeks to make the journey, and settled at Jacksonville, Illinois, where they resided for seventeen years. Here Mr. Adams died and later the widow and her children removed to their old home in New York state. Some time after her return to New York she was again married, her husband being Allen T. Bates, of Westville, Otsego county, who also died after upwards of forty years' companionship, leaving her again a widow. Three years ago last fall she came to Janesville and since that time she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Brand. Early in life she gave her heart to her Saviour and united with the Baptist church. During all the intervening years she lived a consistent christian life. She united with the Baptist church in this city soon after her arrival here, but her advanced age prevented her being active in church work. She was possessed of a most amiable disposition and made friends with all with whom she came in contact. She was a great student of the bible and had a remarkable memory, being able to repeat the text of every funeral she ever attended. She selected the text for her own funeral, and her mind was perfectly clear to the last. She died strongly in her faith of a glorious resurrection and a life beyond the grave.

Of seven children, the result of her first marriage, but three survive—Mrs.

HUNTING IN GEORGIA.

A Spunky Old Darky Guided the Party and Climbed Trees.

"We got tired of bird shooting down in Georgia not long ago," said a Pittston statesman to a New York Sun man, "and after a day's rest we hired a darky to take us coon hunting in the evening. The darky had a pair of good dogs, and by 9 o'clock they ran a coon into the swamp and up a tall cypress tree, at the foot of which they were yelping when we came up. The thick, moist vegetable mold of the swamp was as springy as a sponge under our weight, and when the colored man had joined the dogs and lighted pine torches for us he peeled off and climbed the tree. It was close onto fifty feet to the limb the coon was hugging, and the darky was puffing like a porpoise when he reached it. After he had got his wind he gave us very minute orders where to stand, and then he crept out on the limb to shake the coon loose.

"The coon had faced about, with its nose toward the trunk, and it clung like a tick till the darky tried to cuff it, when it sprang at his head, and the next instant both negro and coon demonstrated the law of gravitation in a way that would have delighted Sir Isaac himself if he had seen it. The darky and the coon made a hole as big as a table in the oozy bottom of the swamp when they struck, and the next sound we heard was the darky yelling: 'Leeg go dat ear!'

"The dogs pitched into the coon in great shape, and the darky jumped up, grabbed his right ear, and sang out: 'Boss, I ain't hurt.' 'We found that the fall hadn't injured him any, but his ear was bleeding profusely, for the coon had torn it into three parts with its teeth. We bound the ear up, and by that time the dogs had killed the coon. Then the darky remarked: 'Don't know what de stock'd done ef ol' Sam'd struck a snag.'

"What stock?" I asked. "Ol' Sam's young uns," he said. "How many are there?" "Thirteen, boss; had sixteen."

"We offered to take the darky home, but he wouldn't consent, and before midnight the gritty old fellow climbed three more trees and shook out four coons for the dogs to kill."

There's little profit made on Orfordville "alcohol punches." It cost the Noonans, of Orfordville, one hundred and seventy-five dollars to sell them. To this sum must be added their attorneys' fees, probably about one hundred dollars. There were a number of counts against the Noonans. On one of these conviction followed; on two the jury acquitted the accused, and this morning M. J. Noonan pleaded guilty to one of the charges and the district attorney consented to discontinue one or two others.

"WILLARD FARM" CHANGES HANDS

Mr. Dullam, of St. Anthony, Minn., is the Purchaser.

The old Willard homestead below the School for the Blind, more recently known as the Baines farm, has again changed hands, a gentleman, Mr. Dullam, of St. Anthony, Minn., being the purchaser, intending to occupy it in the near future as his homestead.

NEWS OF THE BOWER CITY.

N. H. Clark Sends Horses to Vermont.

N. H. Clark shipped a carload of horses to New Berry, Vermont, last night. There were nineteen animals in the car load and they were the kind that will make New Berry people think they never saw a horse before. There are few horse buyers in Wisconsin who can see a good animal as far as Mr. Clark can.

Officer Cochrane on Spring Business.

Constable Wallace Cochrane took a trip to Spring Valley this morning. Supposedly he had his pocket full of invitations to a reception to be given by Judge Phelps in a few days in honor of the Spring Valley springs that give forth beer instead of washing fluid.

C. S. Jackman Fully Insured.

C. S. Jackman had one thousand dollars' insurance on his barn and contents. This was divided, four hundred dollars being on the building and six hundred on the contents, including three horses.

R. Brand of this city; Lyman L. Adams of Chicago and C. J. F. Smith of Red Wing, Minnesota. The funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. R. Brand, 163 Linn street, Sunday afternoon at half past two o'clock. Rev. Dr. Hodge of the Baptist church officiating. The interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

CAN'T LET VAGS OUT WITHOUT CLOTHES.

COMPLICATED PROBLEM PRESENTED TO SHERIFF BEAR.

Quarantine Could Be Raised Today But the Prisoners Effects Have Been Burned and They Cannot Be Let Loose Without New Suits—Get Them Tomorrow.

Quarantine on the jail has expired, but the sheriff cannot turn his prisoners loose. The law prevents men parading the streets in the primeval costume that Father Adam wore, and that's all the prisoners have, now that the health officer ordered their clothing burned. The sheriff cannot let them go until he procures clothing for them. This he expected to do to-day, but the county board directed him to procure clothing by receiving bids. This will delay the discharge until tomorrow and perhaps until Monday. After the prisoners are discharged they intend to thoroughly clean the building, so there will not be the slightest danger of contagion. The sheriff had figured that the trustees of the poor would furnish the clothes, but such was not the case.

Four Men Burned by Molten Metal.

BIRDSBORO, Pa., Feb. 16.—Four men were frightfully burned at the Brooks iron works yesterday by a shower of liquid metal. At 3 o'clock in the morning the four laborers were about to open the furnace when the walls broke and the fiery contents burst forth. When the molten iron came in contact with the air there were thousands of explosions.

Two Girl Dynamites Go to Jail.

LINCOLN, Ill., Feb. 16.—The preliminary hearing was held yesterday of Ida Shelles and Georgia Williams, charged with trying to pass dynamite into the county jail to Arthur D. Goodpasture to destroy the structure and accomplish his release. They were bound over until the grand jury meets, and in default of bonds they were sent to the county jail.

SOMEWHAT HUMOROUS.

Why They All Are.

He—Why are you so sweet?
She—I guess it is because all the men of my acquaintance persist in giving me taffy.—Truth.

HE HAD A RATTLING TIME.

—Harper's Weekly.

A Case in Point.

"There are times," said the man with the oratorical manner, "when we are overwhelmed with humiliation at the powerlessness of the human mind."
"That's very true," was the reply.
"I'm often made to feel so."
"Indeed?"
"Yes; I have a four-year-old daughter who asks questions."—Washington Star.

Not Too Bold.

New Boarder—One thing I'll say for these eggs. There's nothing bold or impudent about them.
Landlord—Bold or impudent? I don't understand.
New Boarder—Why, not a bit too fresh, you know.—Buffalo Courier.

Different Circumstances.

"So you married a telephone girl on account of her sweet voice, eh?"
"Are her tones as dulcet as ever?"
"Er—well—they might be if they were at the end of two or three thousand feet of wire as in the old days."—Indianapolis Journal.

Matrimonial Felicities.

His Wife (as they start for the call)—That necktie of yours is horribly loud.
He—Well, no one will hear it while your hat is in the neighborhood.—Chicago Record.

Merely Asked for Form's Sake.

Borer—Good morning. I hope you are not busy to-day?
Mr. Busyman—I am—very? Why?
Borer—Because I'm going to take up three or four hours of your time.—Chicago News.

Bad Judgment.

She—It seems to me you would not show good judgment as a poker player.
He—Why not?
She (yawning)—You always persist in staying.—Truth.

She Couldn't.

An old woman of undeniable Celtic origin entered a down-town savings bank the other day and walked up to the desk.

"Do you want to draw or deposit?" asked the gentlemanly clerk.
"Naw, I don't. Oi wants ter put some in," was the reply.
The clerk pushed up the book for her signature, and, indicating the place, said: "Sign on this line, please."
"Above it or below it?"
"Just above it."
"Me whole name?"
"Yes."
"Before Oi was married?"
"No, just as it is now."
"Oi can't write."—Boston Transcript.

A Considerate Boy.

Mother—Back already? Well, I'm glad it's over. Did the tooth hurt much when it was pulled?
Small Son—I didn't have it out.
"What? Didn't you go to the dentist's?"
"Yes'm, but there was two people ahead of me."

"Why didn't you wait?"
"I—I was 'fraid they'd feel 'shamed if I stayed and heard them holler."—Good News.

A Needless Luxury.

Father—The idea of marrying that young fellow! He couldn't scrape enough money together to buy a square meal.
Daughter—But what difference need that make? We haven't either of us had a bit of appetite for months.—N. Y. Weekly.

Life As It Is.

Life is such a strange condition, anywhere its course is run: You can lend ten thousand dollars Where you cannot borrow one.—Detroit Free Press.

An Interesting Proceeding.

"Did you ever see anything funnier than two men trying to talk politics without getting mad?"
"Oh, yes. I've seen two girls trying to snub each other."—Chicago Record.

They Like It.

Jack—Dynamite is unpopular in France, isn't it?
Tom—Yes, except among the bomb element.—Atlanta Constitution.

One of Her Pets.

She—I always have a great many pets about me.
He (tenderly)—Am I one of them?
She—Yes. You are my pet aversion.—Texas Sittings.

Felt Them Pleasantly.

Mrs. Doogood—Do you feel the hard times, my good man?
Tramp—No, ma'am; everywhere I go they tell me there's no work.—Puck.

Just the Opposite.

She—I can't endure him. He is too small caliber for me.
He—Oh, you do him an injustice. He is a tremendous bore.—Hullo.

The Statue of General Shields.

The statue of General James Shields, recently placed by the state of Illinois in statuary hall in the capitol at Washington, is a lasting tribute to an extraordinary man. It is of bronze, heroic in size and represents the general, dressed in the uniform he wore during the Mexican war, standing in a respectful attitude, leaning upon his sword. On the front panel of the heavy marble pedestal are the words "Warrior, Jurist, Statesman." On the right panel is the coat of arms of Illinois, on the back that of Minnesota, and on the left that of Missouri, the three states which, at different periods of his eventful career, General Shields represented in the United States senate, a mark of honor and confidence such as never has been accorded to any other man. General Shields was born in Ireland in 1810 and came to the United States in 1826. His record during the Mexican war and the late civil war was a brilliant one.

Leaving the Grave.

In old age infirmities and weakness hasten to close the gap between us and the grave. Happy scientific research and pharmaceutical skill have allied themselves in furnishing us a reliable means of ameliorating the ailments incident to declining years, and of renewing waning physical energy. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a widely comprehensive remedy in disease, and an inestimable blessing to the elderly, the feeble and the convalescent. Rheumatic ailments, trouble with the kidneys and Jumbago are among the more common ailments of the aged. These are effectively counteracted by the Bitters, which is likewise a prevention and curative of malarial complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. It is highly promotive of appetite, sleep and the acquisition of vigor.

Frankness.

Mamma—Aren't you home from school earlier than usual to-day?
Bobby—Yes, mamma, I wasn't kept in to-day.—Harper's Young People.

The Cause of It.

Snogsby—What did old David Trimble die of?
Bogsby—Of his initials.—Judge.

Lieut. Reynolds was seated at his desk at department headquarters about nine o'clock that morning when an orderly in light-battery dress dismounted at the banquet and came up the stairs three at a jump. "Capt. Cram's compliments, sir, and this is immediate," he reported, as he held forth a note. Reynolds tore it open, read it hastily through, then said: "Go and fetch me a cab quick as you can," and disappeared in the general's room. Half an hour later he was spinning down the levee towards the French market, and before ten o'clock leaving him to receive his "entertainment" passenger. "I, too, went to see Mme. Lascelles late this afternoon," said Reynolds. "I wished to show her this."

It was a copy of a dispatch to the chief of police of New Orleans. It stated in effect that Philippe Lascelles had not been seen or heard of around Key West for over two weeks. It was believed that he had gone to Havana. "Can you get word of this to our friend the detective?" asked Cram.

"I have wired already. He has gone to Georgia. What I hoped to do was to note the effect of this on Mme. Lascelles; but she was too ill to see me. Luckily, Mrs. Cram was there, and I sent it up to her. She will tell you. Now I have to see Braxton."

And then came a messenger to ask Cram to join the doctor at Doyle's quarters at once; so he hurried upstairs to see Nell first and learn her tidings. "Did I not tell you?" she exclaimed, as he entered the parlor. "Philippe Lascelles was here that very night, and had been seen by his brother at the office on Royal street twice before this thing happened, and they had trouble about money. Oh, I made her understand. I appealed to her as a woman to do what she could to right Mr. Waring, who was so generally believed to be the guilty man. I told her we had detectives tracing Philippe and would soon find how and when he reached New Orleans. Finally I showed her the dispatch that Mr. Reynolds sent up, and at last she broke down, burst into tears, and said she, too, had learned since the inquest that Philippe was with her husband, and probably was the stranger referred to, that awful night. She even suspected it at the time, for she knew he came not to borrow but to demand money that was rightfully his, and also certain papers that Armand held and that now were gone. It was she who told me of Philippe's having been seen with Armand at the office, but she declared she could not believe that he would kill her husband. I pointed out the fact that Armand had fired two shots from his pistol, apparently, and that no bullet marks had been found in the room where the quarrel took place, and that if his shots had taken effect on his antagonist he simply could not have been bruised and beaten about the head, the doctor said there was no sign of bullet mark about him anywhere. She recognized the truth of this, but still she said she believed that there was a quarrel or was to be a quarrel between her husband and Mr. Waring. Otherwise I believe her throughout. I believe that, no matter what romance there was about nursing Philippe and than he ordered him to leave." Lascelles refused to go. Doyle knocked him down, and the Frenchman sprang up, swearing vengeance. Lascelles fired two shots, and Doyle struck once—with the knife—and there lay Lascelles, dead, before Doyle could know or realize what he was doing. In fact, Doyle never did know. It was what his wife had told him, and life had been a hell to him ever since that woman came back. She had black-mailed him, more or less, ever since he got his commission, because of an old trouble he'd had in Texas.

And this confession was written out for him, signed by Doyle on his dying bed, duly witnessed, and the civil authorities were promptly notified. Bridget Doyle was handed over to the police. Certain detectives out somewhere on the trail of somebody else were telegraphed to come in, and four days later, when the force of the fever was broken and Waring lay weak, languid, but returning to his senses, Cram and the doctor read the confession to their patient, and then started to their feet as he almost sprang from the bed.

"It's an infernal lie!" he weakly cried. "I took that knife from Doyle and kept it. I myself saw Lascelles to his gate, safe and sound."

He Encouraged Her in It. Black—They tell me your wife is quite a whistler. White—She is. Whistles most of the time.

B.—And you allow it? Don't it annoy you? W.—It doesn't annoy me; and as for allowing it, I encourage her in it.

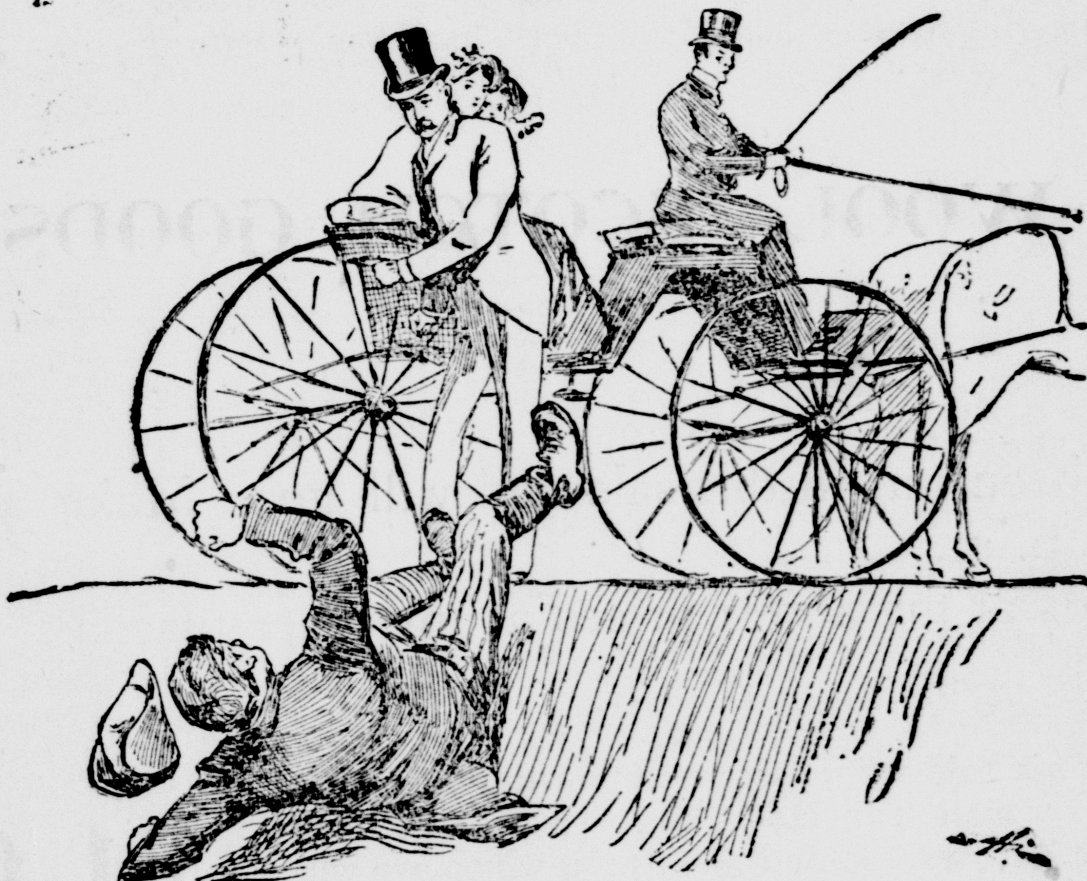

B.—Why? W.—Because a woman can't whistle and talk at the same time.—Boston Courier.

Where the Difference Was. "I cannot marry you, Mr. Albion. I have looked up your ancestry and your grandfather was a tradesman."

"True, Marie; but we are cousins. He was your grandfather, too. How are you better born than I?" "You forget that I am American while you are English. It is nothing for an American to have had a grandfather in trade, but for an Englishman—oh! It's awful!"—Life.

Equal to the Emergency. "Why don't you smoke the cigars I gave you instead of buying new ones?" said Mrs. Bachus, reproachfully, pointing to the Christmas present she had given to her husband.

"Well—er—I—well," responded Mr. Bachus, incoherently, "you see—er—I've sworn off—that is, I've sworn off on such good cigars—you know. They'd his falling in love with her, she did not encourage him, did not call him her again, was true to her old husband. She is simply possessed with the idea that the quarrel which killed her husband was between himself and Mr. Waring, and that it occurred after Philippe had got his money and papers, and gone.

"We-e-ll, Philippe will have a heap to explain when he is found," was Cram's reply. "Now I have got to go to Doyle's. He is making some confession, I expect, to the priest."

But Cram never dreamed for an instant what that was to be.

That night poor Doyle's spirit took its flight, and the story of misery he had to tell, partly by scrawling with a pencil, partly by gesture in reply to question, partly in painfully-gasped sentences, a few words at a time, was practically this: Lascelles and his party did indeed leave him at the Pelican when he was so drunk he only vaguely knew what was going on or what had happened in the bar-room where they were drinking, but his wife had told him the whole story. Lascelles wanted more drink—champagne; the bar-tender wanted to close up. They bought several bottles, however, and had them put in the cab, and Lascelles was gay and singing, and, instead of going directly home, insisted on stopping to make a call on the lady who occupied the upper floor of the house Doyle rented on the levee. Doyle rarely saw her, but she sometimes wrote to Lascelles and got Bridget to take the letters to him. She was setting her cap for the old Frenchman. "We called her Mrs. Dawson." The cabman drove very slowly through the storm as Doyle walked home along with Bridget and some man who was helping, and when they reached the gate there was the cab and Waring in it. The cab-driver was standing by his horse, swearing at the delay and saying he would charge double fare. Doyle had had trouble with his wife for many years, and renewed trouble lately because of two visits Lascelles had paid there, and that evening when she sent for him he was drinking in Waring's room, had been drinking during the day; he dreaded more trouble, and 'twas he who took Waring's knife, and still had it, he said, when he entered the gate, and no sooner did he see Lascelles at his door

Politeness. Mrs. Murphy was known as a very sociable woman. She made it a point never to pass an acquaintance without speaking. One day she met Mrs. Casey on the street. "Good mornin', Mrs. Casey," said she. "How do yez feel this mornin'?" Not that Oi ears, Mrs. Casey, but Oi just wanted t' open the convosation."—Boston Budget.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing invertebrate bronchitis, which is usually the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results by its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as far the best and only cure. Call upon your druggist for it.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 100 lbs. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It ever surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians." Mrs. Harry Starr, Portville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medicine Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

"WHAT THE DEVIL'S THE MATTER?"

fitted him out with a clean shirt, and the steward dried his clothing as best he could, but the coat was stained and clotted with blood. Mr. Waring had slept heavily much of the way back until they passed Pilot Town. Then he was up and dressed Thursday afternoon, and seemingly in better spirits, when he picked up a copy of the New Orleans Picayune which the pilot had left aboard, and was reading that, when suddenly he started to his feet with an exclamation of amazement, and when the captain turned to see what was the matter, Waring was ghastly pale and fearfully excited by something he had read. He hid the paper under his coat and sprang up on deck and paced nervously to and fro for hours, and began to grow so ill, apparently, that Capt. Baird was much worried. At night he begged to be put ashore at the barracks instead of going on up to town, and Baird had become so troubled about him that he sent his second officer in the gig with him, landed him on the levee opposite the sally-port, and there, thanking them heartily, but declining further assistance, Waring had hurried through the entrance into the barrack square. Mr. Royce, the second officer, said there was considerable excitement, beating of drums and sounding of bugles, at the most as they moved when informed that Father Foley had already arrived, it required the strength of four men to hold her. She raved like a maniac, and her screams appalled the garrison. But screams and struggles were all in vain. "Pills the Less" sent for his senior, and "Pills the Pitiless" more than ever deserved his name. He sent for a strait jacket, saw her securely stowed away in that and borne over to a vacant room in the old hospital, set the steward's wife on watch and a sentry at the door, went back to Waring's bedside, where Sam lay tossing in burning fever, murmured his few words of caution to Pierce and Ferry, then hastened back to where poor Doyle was gasping in agony of mind and body, clinging to the hand of the gentle soldier of the cross, gazing piteously into his father confessor's eyes, drinking in his words of exhortation, yet unable to make articulate reply. The flames had done their cruel work. Only in desperate pain could he speak again.

It was nearly dark when Mrs. Cram came driving back to barracks, bringing Mr. Reynolds with her. Her eyes were dilated, her cheeks flushed with excitement, as she sprang from the low phaeton, and, with a murmured "Come to me as soon as you can" to her husband, she sped away up the stairs,
